

MOST ECONOMICAL YEAR IN FEDERAL GOVERNMENT COST

Saving Of 153 Millions Is Effectuated By Harding Administration.

DEFICIENCY BILL AWAITING ACTION

Cost Of Conducting U. S.
Government Is $22.50
For Every Person.

Washington, March 1.—The cost of running the United States government will be $2,475,700,000 during the current fiscal year which ends June 30. It was stated today by financial wizards in the senate with the third deficiency appropriation bill awaiting consideration.

This sum, averaging about $22.50 for every man, woman and child in the nation—includes appropriation for congress, the governmental departments and all independent federal agencies. It will be the most economical year of governmental administration since before the war.

With all the great supply bills already passed for the fiscal year of 1924, which begins July 1, it was also estimated that the cost of future government would be reduced. Appropriations to date for the fiscal year 1924 totaled $2,286,513,000 with only one bill—the bonus bill for civilian employees—pending.

The cost of government in the present twelve months was higher than estimated before the year began. Additional needs for expenditures resulted in three deficiency bills, the last of which was before the senate today. The three bills totaled $231,000,000 of which $153,000,000 was carried in the one now before the senate.

Save 153 Millions
Although two of the regular supply bills for 1924—those of the war and for the District of Columbia—have not yet been signed by the president their totals will not be changed. Economies carried out under instructions from the budget bureau indicated a saving of $153,000,000 would be effected even though the senate acts favorably on the $35,800,000 civilian bonus appropriation passed by the house.

The largest of the supply bills passed for the year 1924 was for the post office department and totaled $584,872,991. The second highest was for independent offices, totaling $496,634,711 with the war department third with $336,000,000. The interior and navy departments came next both with approximately $294,000,000 and the treasury sixth with $115,386,000.

The other government supply bills for the coming year totalled, agriculture department $69,536,653; state and justice departments $33,250,421; commerce and labor departments $26,265,641; District of Columbia $22,760,000 and congress $12,706,071.

Although congress had the right to fix appropriations, it took the small sum of all for its work. The amounts appropriated for the coming year, however, probably will not meet all expenses for the unbroken custom of congress has been to pass deficiency bills every year.

FARM SEARCHED, NO BOOZE FOUND

Police Hunt For Still On Vogelhuber Farm But Make No Arrest.

Acting upon information coming from a reliable source, Salem police headed by Chief T. W. Thompson, Wednesday afternoon visited the farm of George Vogelhuber about two miles from Valley, on a search for a reported still and whisky.

While nothing was found that would warrant filing of charges against Vogelhuber, police say they are of the opinion that whisky had been manufactured at the place.

A very small quantity of what is thought to be raisin jack was found in a bottle, in addition to numerous bottles and jugs. A barrel, said to have formerly contained mash, was found on the second floor of the home but Vogelhuber declared this was used to mix feed for his hogs.

A thorough search of the home and outbuildings was made by the police as well as the greater part of the 74-acre farm. Vogelhuber is a brother of Sam Vogelhuber, arrested recently by East Palestine enforcement agents when a quantity of whisky was found at his home.

TROTSKY SPURNS PLEA TO PAY OLD DEBTS

Moscow, March 1.—Leon Trotsky, peoples commissar for war in the soviet government, is determined not to pay the debts contracted by Russia during the old czarist regime.

Trotsky's declaration was called forth by a cable report quoting Senator Henry Cabot Lodge as saying that recognition of the Moscow government was hindered by its dishonest attitude towards financial obligations.

Trotsky declared that if Senator Lodge were truthfully quoted in saying Russia did not feel bound by any treaties, he was guilty of "a daring and insolent statement."

BOURKE COCKRAN, FAMED ORATOR, IS DEAD IN NEW YORK

Veteran Congressman Victim Of Apoplexy. Dies In His 69th Year.

Was Conspicuous Figure In Public Life For Half a Century.

Washington, March 1.—W. Bourke Cockran, veteran Democratic congressman from New York, and one of the most famous orators of his time, died at his home here this morning, following an illness of only a few hours. He became ill last night, suffered a stroke of apoplexy in the early morning hours and his death soon followed. He was 69 years old.

News of the death of Representative Cockran came as a profound shock to the capital, where few men in public life enjoyed a wider acquaintance or a greater host of friends than did the picturesque New Yorker.

Not alone in New York and Washington, where he spent the greater part of his life, but in many states he was noted for the brilliancy of his oratory and the independence and vigor of his views on public questions.

In the lobbies of congress news of his death was received with sorrow and political friends and foes hastened to pay tribute to his eminence.

Bourke Cockran has been a conspicuous figure in the public and political life of America for half a century. A native of Ireland, born in county Sligo, he came to the United States in 1871 fresh from the best schools of his native land and of France. He was then 17, too young to be admitted to the bar.

For 12 years he taught school, and upon reaching his majority was admitted to the bar and began practicing law in New York. Six years later, at the age of 27, he was a delegate to the Democratic state convention, and from that point on he was a conspicuous and brilliant figure at every political convention of note in state and national politics.

DYES, CHEMICALS MAY PAY TROOPS

America May Accept These From Germany For Expenses On Rhine.

Paris, March 1.—The United States may accept dyes and chemicals from Germany for the $265,000,000 owing for the upkeep of the American army of occupation on the Rhine, it was reported here today when the international conference opened regarding costs of armies of occupation.

"The problem of adjusting the costs of the armies of occupation of the allied and associated powers is made more difficult by the fact that Germany has ceased all payments," said the Matin. "It seems, however, that Washington must realize this."

"The American treasury department probably will be content if awarded certain payments in kind, notably dyes or chemicals. America refused to ratify the treaty of Versailles and protests all efforts to compel Germany to pay, but she claims the benefit of all payments that we compel the Germans to make."

Berryville, Va., March 1.—Armed residents of this village fought two pitched battles with robbers who dynamited the postoffice safe early this morning and escaped with a quantity of stamps.

Scores of shots were exchanged between villagers, awakened by the explosion, and the robbers, who made their escape in a touring car.

Provide Mail Box Or Go After Your Letters, Is Edict

Washington, March 1.—The edict of Postmaster General Work that no mail will be delivered at residences without mail receptacles went into effect today with every prospect, according to reports, that thousands of persons throughout the country will have to go to postoffices to get their mail.

Although the order has generally been complied with, reports indicated that in many cities numerous homes were without mail boxes. Baltimore was reported to have 70,000 homes not equipped with mail receptacles.

Cleveland, March 1.—Wage scales in some cases higher than those of 1920 were in effect in the building trades today. Some trades have completed negotiations with employers, while quick settlement on the part of others is expected. Bricklayers, who in 1920 received $1.25 per hour, are demanding $1.37, with employers offering $1.35.

75 Cent Bill Is Basis Of Suit

Elizabeth Boyd, Wellsville, has brought suit against the city of Wellsville, to prevent collection of 75 cents, this amount having been an overcharge in water rent, above the regular rate.

She asked for an injunction against the city to compel it to furnish her with water until a decision was made in the case and this was granted Thursday morning.

So far as is known, this is the smallest amount of money ever involved in a court litigation in this county.

Only 314 Places Searched, Police Surely Were Busy

Salem police were exceedingly active during the month of February according to the monthly report of Chief of Police T. W. Thompson which shows a total of 55 arrests during the month.

Gambling charges led the list with 34 arrests, while 10 drunks were taken into custody. The classification of arrests was as follows: Operating automobile while intoxicated 1; keeping gambling room 1; possessing liquor 3; transporting liquor 1; manufacturing liquor 1; intoxicated 10; disorderly conduct 2; gambling 34; larceny 5; receiving stolen property 1.

The report shows 29 calls answered by police during the month and 314 places searched for liquor.

Better Pay Fido's Tax, Sheriff Will Be On Your Trail

Within the next 30 days warrants will be issued for the arrest of persons owning dogs who have not paid their dog tax and secured a license tax for their animals. H. R. Hamilton, who is in charge of the collection of this tax, and his assistants have been instrumental thus far in the collection of taxes upon over 3,000 dogs.

Last year there were nearly 4,500 licenses purchased by dog owners and the officials were able to clean up their books only after some hard work. This year the response has been better owing to the fact that threats were made of immediate arrest. This threat will be put into execution about the first of April.

Many dog owners have tried to get by without the officers finding them out. For the past three months data has been prepared and it is almost certain that your name is on the list for a visit from the sheriff if you have neglected to get Fido on the license list.

Crows And March Lion Arrive With Spring Prophecies

Wednesday evening a large colony of crows which for years past have made their headquarters in the woods on the hillside overlooking Willow Grove park, Lisbon, arrived from their southern winter home and proceeded to give an evening concert. There were more than a hundred in the flock and their concerted cawing made the woods ring.

Old times say this is the earliest date they can remember for the return of the crows and are positive that this is another sign for the early return of spring.

The March lion arrived on the heels of a snow flurry Thursday morning, indicating that the month will be ushered out with spring zephyrs.

Building Trades In Cleveland Ask War-Time Wage

Cleveland, March 1.—Wage scales in some cases higher than those of 1920 were in effect in the building trades today. Some trades have completed negotiations with employers, while quick settlement on the part of others is expected. Bricklayers, who in 1920 received $1.25 per hour, are demanding $1.37, with employers offering $1.35.

The scales agreed upon are: Hoisting engineers $1.25; painters $1.12 1/2 until September, $1.20 thereafter; cement finishers $1.25; sheet metal workers $1.25; plasterers $1.25; asbestos workers $1.12 1/2.

CLERGYMEN ATTACK LABOR GROUPS AND PROFITEERS ALIKE

Want Government To Give Consideration To The Coal Situation.

Convention Also Commends Harding Efforts To Enforce Dry Law.

Columbus, March 1.—Commendation of President Harding in his efforts to enforce the Volstead act and suggestion that the federal government give immediate and constructive consideration to the coal situation were registered in resolutions unanimously adopted at the closing session here of the two-day convention of 2,000 clergymen and official board members, representing approximately 400,000 members of the Methodist Episcopal church in the Cincinnati area, comprising Ohio and Kentucky.

Opposition also was voiced against the "Godless and heartless profiteers, and labor groups thwarting society's highest interests."

The delegates adopted resolutions opposing the Ramey bill, pending in the Ohio legislature, proposing local option on the Sunday movie question; favoring the bill which extends the powers of the Ohio board of motion picture censors; advocating family religious "altars"; greater use of rural training schools, group and district conventions, comprising clergymen and laymen and organizations of rural missionary societies in each district area of the church; equality of opportunity for all men and women everywhere, regardless of race.

"If capital is grinding the faces of the laborers in the dust, the church must fulfill her Divine function of the prophet and speak in a word of commanding spiritual power," reads a resolution directed against "the Godless and heartless profiteers."

"If organized and unorganized labor groups are thwarting society's highest interests, let the church speak out in truth and love."

EDUCATORS OPPOSE NEW CABINET POST

Convention Will Approve
The Sterling-Towner
Measure.

Cleveland, March 1.—School superintendents and other leading educators of the United States were expected to go on record today as unanimously opposed to the plan said to have the support of President Harding for the establishment of a joint education and welfare department in Washington, with a cabinet officer at its head, and to record their belief that a national department of education, should be established.

To this end the Sterling-Towner measure, now pending in congress, will be approved.
The report of the committee on resolutions was to feature the final day of the convention of the National Education association here. New officers, announced late last night, include: Payson Smith, superintendent of public instruction of Massachusetts, president; M. G. Clark, Sioux City, Iowa, vice president, and William McAndrew, New York, member of the executive committee.

Other resolutions adopted today urged the opening of new sources of revenue to support the growing demands of the schools and demand equal educational advantages for all boys and girls regardless of where they may live.

It is directed against Samuel Gompers, the "big five" railroad brotherhood heads and other "reactionary" leaders, as Foster terms them.

It aims to accomplish among other things:
1.—Consolidation of all the 16 standard railroad unions into one big union.
2.—Formation of a labor party in the United States.
Foster's campaign is launched on the eve of his going on trial with 22 other alleged "reds" on the charge of violating the Michigan syndicalist law.

It is projected at a time when industrial peace, never seemed brighter, according to leaders and employers.

M'KEE'S MEN RAID HARRY MATZ CAFE

Citizens' Committee Fails To Find Liquor After Thorough Search.

The establishment of Harry Matz, the White Front cafe, Main st., was visited Wednesday night by members of the so-called citizens committee in a search for liquor. Their mission ended in failure as nothing of an incriminating nature was found. The visiting party included F. W. McKee, Earl Ritchie, W. H. Matthews, J. R. Stratton and H. P. Lowell.

This made the third visit of the committee to the Mat establishment, in addition to one at his home. Liquor was found in the cafe on the last visit as well as on the visit to the home.

The raiders also searched one of the patrons of the cafe, who is alleged to have been intoxicated, but found nothing on his person.

EMERGENCY FLEET WILL BE SOLD TO PRIVATE OWNERS

Shipping Board Officials Prepare For Sale Of U. S. Vessels.

REPRESENT VALUE OF TWO BILLIONS

Government Loses Fifty Millions Annually On Merchant Marine.

Washington, March 1.—The United States emergency fleet, which cost the government more than three billion dollars, will be in the hands of private ship owners by June 1, officials of the shipping board predicted today.

In the liquidation project, 1,380 passenger and cargo vessels, shipyards at Hog Island and Alameda, Cal., railways, drydocks and other physical assets of the United States emergency fleet corporation, will be placed on the market.

Vessels to be disposed of cost over a billion and a half dollars. Of the original fleet of 2,312 steamers, 923 have already been sold by the government.

The giant Leviathan, acquired from Germany after the armistice is among the 30 liners the shipping board will put up for sale. The former Vaterland, rebuilt by the government at a cost of $8,500,000, is to be formally inspected at Newport News, Va., tomorrow and in June is expected to make her maiden voyage.

Assets of the fleet corporation, other than ships cost, the government $500,000,000. While figures were not available, officials of the shipping board estimated over three-quarters of this class of property has been sold.

Investment of Two Billions
Property representing an investment of probably close to two billion dollars remains for disposal. Officials refused to guess at what the government will get for the marine holdings. It is not likely, however, the figure will approach half the cost.

The plans of Chairman A. D. Lasker to place the merchant marine on the market were being guarded closely today. The method will be "surprising and novel," and one which will give the government the maximum return for its investment, officials of the board said.

Assets of emergency fleet corporation will be disposed under terms of the merchant marine act of 1920. It is provided vessels and other property may be sold, leased or chartered "on the best available terms."

That the sale or lease contracts will stipulate certain of the vessels be maintained in the trades which they are now operating or in other trades fixed by the government, was the understanding.

Only 233 steamers, passenger and cargo, are now operated by the government, because of unfavorable shipping conditions, making impracticable operation of the entire fleet. The government is at present losing at the rate of $50,000,000 annually on the merchant marine fleet.

LEAPS FROM WALL, SAVES SMALL GIRL

Youth Rescues Child From Track Before Train
Speeds Past.

Belleuve, Ky., March 1.—Howard Richter, 15, jumped from the top of a 16-foot wall here last night to save the life of Harriet Peters, 5, after she fell upon the Casapeake & Ohio railroad tracks in front of a rapidly approaching freight train.

Young Richter saw the child topple and fall from the top of the wall, which lined an embankment on the side of a cut in which the tracks are located.

Peering down to the railroad he saw that the girl was unconscious, lying across one rail of the tracks on which the freight was approaching less than a city block distant.

Without hesitation he jumped from the 16-foot wall, picked up the child and held her close against the side of cut as the train rushed by only a few inches separating them from the sides of the cars.

Aside from a few slight bruises the girl was uninjured.

The Prohibition Muddle
ATTEMPTS at prohibition law enforcement in Columbiana county are assuming so many varieties and angles that even those entrusted with this work are not certain which way to turn. County commissioners have refused to discontinue their policy of paroling liquor law prisoners from the county jail; Mayor Ferren of East Palestine, whose liquor prosecution ramifications have extended far and near, has attacked the commissioners for their stand and in turn has been criticized for assessing large costs and using little judgment in fixing the amounts of fines; the so-called citizens committee of Salem apparently had ended its raiding and now some serious attempt at the same job is being made by the police officers without the co-operation or even goodwill of the committee, or what there is left of the committee; East Palestine raiders shot a man and left him to his mercy, remembering three weeks later that they had never preferred a charge against that man; this and other equally unsavory methods of outside raiders have turned a great many fair-minded people against the whole business, and so the tangle of law-enforcement attempts goes merrily on.
The greatest trouble in the whole muddle is the fact that law-enforcement has been entirely overlooked in the maze of charges and counter-charges. Lack of consistency in assessing fines in Mayor Ferren's court has led many people to believe that he is money-mad. The cause has been hurt even more by the character of some of the men who have rushed into this suddenly-popular sport of raiding, and by the methods some of them use. On the other hand the very men who point with simulated horror at the cost of enforcing the prohibition laws are the men who, by example, precept, and not infrequently systematized endeavor, are aiding the nation-wide attempt to nullify the law. It is not for them to hypocritically deplore the cost. It is rather for them to cease holding themselves superior to the law and conniving at its at-tempted violation. When they become law-abiding the costs of law enforcement will be greatly reduced.
In Salem the situation is not altogether clear. Some months ago when law enforcement and fines sufficient to curb the practice could not be obtained, a self-appointed committee undertook the job with a large degree of success. It cleaned up, or at least curbed the activities of some of the worst places in the city and it demonstrated that repeat orders were successful, even when the raiders were known. To that extent it served a great purpose. It went further and called the governor's attention to the conditions here, asking that he do whatever he saw fit to improve conditions. If that committee thought then, or thinks now, that Gov. Donahey has any intention of removing the mayor, The News feels reasonably certain that this committee is due for a rude awakening. Because the governor has taken no action, however, is no cause for elation from other quarters. He will certainly demand something better from the city officials.
In the meantime, however, the entire police force has shown an inclination to go to the very source of the liquor traffic in Salem. There is still plenty of opportunity for a more extensive campaign. There are even reasons to believe that some of those men fined by Mayor Ferren early in the winter are still operating in an illicit manner. But all the good that has been done in the past will have been lost if these same men who did such effective work fail to manifest their sincerity by co-operating or at least encouraging the police authorities in their apparently sincere attempts to carry on the work. The raids last fall and in the early winter were the direct result of a feeling that rum runners and bootleggers had things pretty much their own way. Now that some effort is being made to check such activities, what excuse is there for failing to recognize merit in that effort. Law enforcement will not be advanced by any group of men sitting back and finding fault with the very work in which they

LEAVE THEIR ANCIENT HOMES
Ancestral Mansions of France Are Passing Out of the Possession of Proud Families.

The old families of France are feeling the pinch of adversity and, as in London, Devonshire house and other ancestral homes are being turned to baser uses, so in Paris the famous mansions of the country's great families are finding new owners.
The residence of the princess of Wagram is now the Spanish embassy, the wonderful hotel in which Princess Jacques de Broglie once gave her "ball of precious stones" is now the United States embassy; the new Czechoslovakian representative lives in the mansion of the ancient de Ligne family, while the residence of the late due de Pomar, which was inspired by Mary Stuart's Edinburgh home, Holyrood manor, now shelters the Bulgarian ambassador. The Gaillard mansion, Place Malesherbes, a copy of one of the wings of the castle of Blois, is to become a branch office of the Bank of France, while the ancestral home of the Bourg de Bozas, in the Rue Pierre ler de Serbie, is now to be hired for dances or entertainments. Other ancestral homes, a Figaro writer points out, have been taken by antiquaries, notably the Sagan mansion and the Moray mansion. And the list could be continued.—From the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

JONES NOMINATED TO BE U. S. JUDGE IN NORTHERN OHIO

Grand Master Talks To Lisbon Rebekahs

Washington, March 1.—The federal plan tree shook again yesterday, Ohio sharing in the shower of patronage. Following his two cabinet appointments and that of a new director of the veterans' bureau, President Harding yesterday sent to the senate a long list of nominations, filling a war department vacancy for assistant secretary, appointing a new governor of Porto Rico, and designating a new director of the war finance corporation, appointing at the same time several judges and a large number of postmasters about the country.

The list settled several important Ohio appointments, and there were these nominations for the president's home state:

To be United States district judge for the northern district, Paul Jones of Youngstown.

To be United States district judge for the southern district, Harry M. Hoffheimer of Cincinnati.

To be United States district attorney for the southern district, Benson W. Hough of Delaware and Columbus.

Another Ohio appointment in the administration, yesterday, although not presidential, was of Rufus Day of Cleveland and Washington, to be special assistant to the attorney general, assigned to the solicitor general's department.

Of national interest were these three major appointments:

To be assistant secretary of war, Dwight Davis of St. Louis.

To be governor of Porto Rico, Rep. Horace M. Towner of Iowa.

To be a director of the war finance corporation, Rep. Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming.

TRUSTEES OF KENT ARE STANDING PAT

Ignore Demand For Removal Of President Of Ohio Normal School.

Columbus, March 1.—The finance committee of the house and senate which served notice of their refusal to recommend any appropriation for the Kent normal college unless President J. E. McGilvrey be removed, today was faced with the statement of the trustees of the institution that they had no intention of taking such a step.

In a statement issued here today, D. C. Wills, governor of the Cleveland federal reserve bank and president of the board of trustees of the school, said that he and the other members of the board "know of the integrity and ability" of Dr. McGilvrey and that they had "no intention of surrendering their manhood by taking any action that would mean abandoning a man and a policy that has put Kent State Normal college in the front ranks of normal schools in the country." Wills declared that McGilvrey was the victim of "slander and innuendo."

Rep. Harry Silver of Preble county, and Sen. J. F. Atwood of Franklin, chairman respectively of the house and senate finance committee, went to the governor's office and notified the chief executive of the action of the committees as prescribed in the resolution passed in yesterday's joint meeting.

FARM BUREAU WILL AID JUNIOR CLUBS

Plans Pig And Calf Club For Boys And Canning For The Girls.

Lisbon, March 1.—Farm bureau chairmen, from Unity, Fairfield, Salem, Franklin, Madison, Wayne, Knox, Middleton and Elkhart townships were present at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the city hall for the purpose of inaugurating boys' and girls' clubs as a feature of the work of the farm bureau in this county.

After a discussion among those present it was decided to devote the energies of the chairman, to the formation of pig and calf clubs among the boys in the different townships and fruit and canning clubs among the girls. However, the girls will not be barred if they wish to show their ability as stock raisers.

Meetings will be called next week in all the townships and the idea of the club explained to the boys and girls and their parents.

The boys are supposed to feed and care for the animals selected, keep a daily record of the rations fed, and the gain in weight and next fall the animal will be exhibited at the county fair.

The same holds good for the canning clubs. The girls are to keep an account of the time used in canning, the date and the kind of fruit or vegetables canned as well as the process used.

It is hoped that the club work will be extended over the entire county.

Don't Blame Moon For Weather Says O. S. U. Professor

Attempts to fasten responsibility for recent freak weather upon the moon, which now is preparing for a partial eclipse due Friday, were blasted by H. C. Lord, professor of astronomy at Ohio State university.

"If one believes in modern science," Prof. Lord said, "the moon has absolutely nothing to do with the weather. If one doesn't believe in modern science, then anything is reasonable."

MILLIONS OF WISHES
CREATED THIS RECORD

Every time a phonograph record has been played these past twenty years—ever since the first disc record—some one has wished that surface sound might be abolished.

Millions and millions of times it has been wished—by people with sensitive nerves, who hear the noise of needle action above everything—by keen-eyed music lovers listening for delicate phrasing and expression, which they know to be there, but which are drowned in the blur of surface sounds.

Those millions of wishes have at last come true in the form of Columbia New Process Records. Columbia engineers and chemists solved the problem by the discovery of a new surface substance so fine and smooth that the needle travels over it almost inaudibly.

All of the Columbia Records out today are made with this amazingly quiet, new surface.

RELICS IN NATIONAL PARK

Sacramental Towers Built by People Probably Contemporary With the Cliff Dwellers.

The new national park recently set aside by President Harding will have an unusual interest for tourists in that within its confines there are numerous relics of a prehistoric race who probably were contemporary with the cliff dwellers. These consist of ruins of towers, believed by experts to have been used by the ancient people in their religious ceremonies.

The new park lies largely in Montezuma county in Colorado, about 30 miles west of Cortez, extending into southwestern Utah. Most of the towers are in Colorado. They are little known outside Montezuma county, and are seldom visited by tourists, as they are 50 miles off the beaten paths of travel. They differ from similar ruins at Mesa Verde, which were built on uplands, and, or were, mainly used as watch towers or for astronomical purposes while some of the Montezuma towers are found in canyons.

STOCKS

ACTIVE ISSUES IN DEMAND
New York, March 1.—The stock market again was strong at the start today, many of the active issues being in good demand. The oil stocks were features, California Petroleum and Pan American Petroleum advancing nearly one point. Lima and Baldwin Locomotive rose over one point. American Can showed a gain of nearly one point and Consolidated Gas moved up 1/2. The railroad and copper shares made small fractional gains.

SHAKESPEARE "UP TO DATE"

Soviets Seem to Have Succeeded in Making Burlesque Out of Tragedy of "Hamlet."

Now it is Shakespeare who has fallen beneath the drastic hand of sovietized Russia; and, as a result, a sovietized "Hamlet" is in rehearsal in a Moscow theater and soon is to be presented for the delectation of such as care to view it.

The play is the result of action on the part of the commissariat of education, and it is to be produced by the orders of that committee by the state institute of theatrical art.

Judging from the first reports, the performance is something in the nature of a burlesque. Hamlet is not a Danish prince, but a prominent communist leader fighting against the bourgeoisie and capitalism. The familiar speeches and soliloquies have been rewritten and put into revolutionary rhetoric. Lloyd George comes in for his share of attention. The actor playing the role of Polonius will make up to resemble the former premier, and his speeches will be based on the outstanding statements made by Lloyd George during the last five years.

All in all, sovietized "Hamlet" smacks of the Shavian school of the modern drama.

The Village Artist's Revenge

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Yes, there's been some changes in Freepport, marm, since you went away. Quite a few of us old folks gone, I guess. My cottage? Why, yes, there has been some changes, too. Them pictures? Now, I'm glad you noticed them. You remember Ellen?"

"Why, it's queer about Ellen. You know, when she took that craze to go to the city and be a painter, nobody thought very much about it. But, you see, Will Calder had jilted her—so they said, and I guess it's true—after her father only left her five hundred dollars instead of the thousands we all thought old Mr. Nash was worth."

"Well, she must of been gone nine or ten years, I guess, and here she comes back—bought the old house, now—and she 'pears to be a famous painter, though none of us knew it. Making her fifteen thousand a year, they say. Yes, Freepport's certainly proud of her daughter."

"Oh, them pictures? Why, she painted them for me. Charge? Nothing. Pretty, ain't they? And she's painted for a lot of the folks, but as for her old flame, Will Calder—why, say, she's stacked his house up with the paintings she's done for him. Pretty scenes! I don't wonder she's succeeded."

I was looking in wonder at the pictures, for, of all the daubs I had ever seen, these were the limit. Broad, flaring bands of color, conventional sweet things, girls' faces and country scenes—just what would appeal to the unsophisticated.

If these were samples of Ellen Nash's work, then Ellen Nash's story that she was a famous painter was a lie, transparent to the person with the smallest knowledge of art.

I walked up the hill to Will Calder's place. Will was at work, but his wife remembered me and showed me over the house with pride. The living room was full of Ellen's paintings.

"Ain't they pretty?" said Mrs. Calder. "I do think it was sweet of her doing all these for us—and not a cent, mind you—just because she and Will used to be friends."

She giggled, and it was clear that she meant that they had been something more than friends.

But if Mrs. Thompson's paintings had been bad, these were positively vile—the vilest daubs that I had ever seen. Perhaps the cheapest of cheap department stores might have ventured to offer them at a knock-down price of a dollar ninety-eight, but I doubted that.

Can't you see the things? The livid blues and browns, the splotches of paint, the red lips and the cream-colored cheeks of the girls? The cattle browsing pastorally in the greenest of green grass? It hurt me, for I remembered Ellen, and I was on my way to see her.

I stopped at the old place. It was Ellen herself who opened the door to me. She was so pleased to see me, and I was as pleased to see her. She had grown refined, spirituelle. I marveled more and more that such a girl could have painted those awful things.

I marveled more—I gasped when I saw the pictures on Ellen's walls. I recognized two of these as the work of the young woman painter, Miriam Keith, who had been the rage of the season. It was evident that Ellen appreciated good pictures. Then how, in heaven's name?

It was Ellen who opened the subject, after I had told her that I had called on Mrs. Thompson and Will.

"I suppose you are wondering about the paintings?" she asked, slowly.

"Well—yes," I ventured.

"I," said Ellen, "am Miriam Keith."

I sat gasping at her like a stranded fish.

"You see, when I went to New York I chose to take another name. I wanted nothing to remind me of this hateful place. I was an unsophisticated girl. I—I succeeded at last. Then, when I was rich, I felt the longing for a country place, and I bought the old house. Here I shall remain Ellen Nash. In New York I am Miriam Keith. Now—do you understand?"

She said no more, but suddenly I did understand. I saw the scorn and the revenge of the artist upon the people who had gossiped about her, lied about her. These pictures were on their own level, and she had taken a clever and such a subtle revenge upon them!

And upon Will Calder, most of all, filling up his house with those trashy daubs. I wondered whether there had been anything in that story about them? Certainly the man could be nothing to her now.

In a way I thought it was a revenge upon Ellen's own youth.

Winds Watch by Walking.

A Californian possesses the only watch in the world that winds itself. He bought it years ago in the East, and it was so old that he could not ascertain when it was made. It was represented as a square French timepiece, and it is so arranged that a lever oscillates with every footstep the owner takes, thus keeping the spring tightened. It is contended that it is the only watch known that winds itself by the jar occasioned in walking.

It keeps accurate time despite its peculiarities of construction, and it has survived several good cases. At present it is encased in gold. A key is provided for emergencies, so that if the owner should be ill or be obliged to refrain from walking for several days, the timepiece can be wound.

CURTAIN OF GLOOM

By ELIZABETH SCHINDLER

Elinor Leighton looked up from the fluffy mass of orchid tulle, which she was fashioning into a giraffe for her two-seasoned evening frock, with a shrug of dissatisfaction.

"Wonderful fun, isn't it?" she challenged her mother, who, broom in hand, had appeared in the doorway. "to go to a dance with your brother and wear a made-over dress in the bargain?"

"Wonderful spirit," retorted Mrs. Leighton, "to bring that up again, when we have agreed that you would rather put your money into 'cello lessons than in an evening dress, and that Bill Avery is no sort of a person to accept an invitation to a dance from. You know I'm mighty sorry about both things, but isn't it the best we can do at this time?"

"I know, mother, but it's awfully disappointing when you don't go to a dance once in a decade, and it isn't as if I didn't get an invitation from some one beside my own brother. You know how everybody sort of pities you."

"It might be more fun than you think," consoled her mother. "Why don't you wait before you complain too much?"

Elinor went on rather glumly with her work, and by dinner time was ready to don her rejuvenated gown. As she came in to the table, where the family were already in the midst of a meal, Bob, her escort for the evening, gave her an admiring glance.

"What do you mean, put your money in 'cello lessons? Did vanity get the best of you, old dear? That's some dress, just the same. Maybe it's worth the sacrifice."

"Oh, Bob, don't be stupid," Elinor pulled out her chair impatiently. "If you're trying to make me feel good—don't."

"All right. I'm sorry, but I thought, honest—"

"M—m," Elinor became intent on her dinner.

At the dance of the Choral club nearly all the young blood of Cantonfield was assembled, and interspersed through the crowd were a few of the onlookers called "strangers," and who furnished material for speculation to most of the women in the balcony.

Mrs. Joy, the leading spirit among them, having exhausted the subject of proper and improper feminine attire, began on the "unfamiliar."

"I don't wonder Foster Clay had to go out of town to get a partner if that's the kind of a girl he likes. Look at her hair—and her make-up. Hm, I feel sorry for his mother. Elinor Leighton's deserted her brother, I see, for a stranger. You know how particular her mother is. Hardly allows her to speak to a boy until she knows his family history. Look at him, though, Mrs. Cotton. Isn't there something about his face—I can't think, but I know I've seen him before."

"Why, don't you remember? Of all things!" Mrs. Cotton came to her aid, as she scrutinized the upturned, whirling face just below.

"Don't you remember the young man who used to come to see Mary Leighton at the beginning of the war? No one knew much about him, but she met him at a party at Drayton. He was going to join the Royal Flying corps, and for some reason he didn't want to enlist under his own name, so he asked Mary if he might borrow part of hers."

"Of course. They used to call him Eddy Leighton. I knew he had been here before."

"He used to be keen about Mary, but I guess she never heard from him much after he got across. I wonder what brought him here."

Meanwhile, Elinor was dancing on air, oblivious of the hungry curiosity above her. She had been the first to recognize the boy who held so important a place in their family life during the period that Mary had seen fit to honor him with most of her time.

"Bob," she had exclaimed, accompanying her words with a wistful pinch, "isn't that Eddy?"

"Eddy who?" answered Bob, irritable. "For Pete's sake cut out the pinching!"

They stopped dancing, and as the music ended Bob approached the "stranger."

"Excuse me, but aren't you Eddy Leighton?" he asked, politely.

He answered with a whoop that brought the eyes of the crowd in their direction.

"Bob! Old stick! And little Elinor, blossomed from bloomer suits to dance dresses. 'This is great!' And there followed a confused swapping of happenings since the last time of meeting. "Mary's married," volunteered Elinor abruptly.

"Yes, I know. This is my dance," he announced as the music began again. And as it happened, the next eight turned out to be his, which brought them to the time for leaving. Bob took charge of the young lady who had been dancing with Eddy, and who proved to be his cousin of Drayton. He even took her home.

When Elinor and Mrs. Leighton were left alone, for Elinor had had to wake up her mother with her surprise, she hugged her violently and danced her around the living room.

"I'm disgusted with myself, mother," she admitted. "Next time, you bet, I won't make such a fuss because everything looks dismal. Think what was hiding behind the 'gray curtain.'"

Mystery Shrouds Slaying Of Aviator

Mr. & Mrs. Earle Remington.

"Look for the woman!" is the motto adopted by the Los Angeles police in their efforts to solve the mysterious murder of Earle Remington, wealthy club man and war hero aviator, whose body was found in the back yard of his home, with two charges of buckshot through the heart. Remington, who was separated from his wife, is known to have had a dozen affairs of the heart with other women. He feared for his life, and on the very night he was killed had arranged to have a private detective guard him, but failed to meet the man who might thus have saved his life.

INDEPENDENTS WIN FIRST TITLE GAME BY 26-10 MARGIN

Ex-Highs Lose By Playing The Man Instead Of The Ball.

Playing the man continually instead of the ball cost the Ex-High basketball team the first game of a series for the city championship Wednesday night at the High school gym, the Independents winning by a score of 26-10.

The game was not the kind that the teams are capable of playing, teamwork being noticeably lacking on both sides.

The persistency of the Ex-Highs in playing the man instead of the ball resulted in the Independents getting 11 field goals while they got but two, one of these being made by a guard.

The nearest semblance to teamwork was that displayed by the Independents who used a five-man defense during the greater part of the game and who made some attempt at passwork.

The contest started off with a rush and the close guarding of both teams confined the scoring in the first quarter to two fouls each, neither team getting a field goal during the initial period. The score at the end of the quarter was 2-2.

Cecil Scullion broke the ice in the second quarter for the Independents with a field goal and Hassey followed suit. Rich came through with one for the Ex-Highs and Morris contributed three fouls and a field goal. A point from the foul line by Hassey ended the scoring for the half, the count standing at 9-7 with the Ex-Highs leading.

Six field goals resulted in 12 points for the Independents during the third quarter while a singlepoint was added to the Ex-High score by a foul goal, which ended their scoring for the night.

Three field goals and one free throw netted seven more points during the fourth quarter for the victors while they held their opponents scoreless.

Scullion and Hassey tied for scoring honors from the field with four goals each. Saunders dropping three through the net. One-third of Hassey's tries for point from the foul line were good, four out of 12 being turned into points. Morris and Rich scored the only field goals for the losers, while the former accounted for six points by way of the free throw line.

The contest was fast and hard fought throughout. Referee Scullion inflicted 19 personal fouls, the Ex-Highs being the worst offenders with 12.

In accordance with their previous agreement the winners took all the gate receipts of last night's contest. No date has been set for the second game of the series.

The lineups:
INDEPENDENTS-26 EX-HIGHS-10
Hassey F Litty
Saunders F Morris
Wilson C Hutson

Scullion G Rich
Spencer G Myers
Substitutions—Enriquez for Wilson; Allen for Litty; Litty for Allen.
Field goals—Hassey 4; Scullion 4; Saunders 3; Rich 1; Morris 1.
Foul goals—Hassey 4 of 12; Scullion none of three; Morris 6 of 11.
Referee—Scullion.
Scorer—Roberts.

VAMPIRES TAMED BY LION TAMERS

The Lion Tamers tamed one more foe when they defeated the Vampire team of the Sophomore class by a score of 15-11 Wednesday night, in the preliminary to the Ex-High-Independent contest at the High gym.

The Lion Tamers started off with a rush and at one time were leading 14 to 1. Here the sophomores came back with a scoring spree and counted 10 points while they held their opponents to one foul goal.

Grafton led his team in points with four field goals while Judge and C. Tolerton were tied with two each from the field for the losers.

During the first half the Lion Tamers had a decided edge in teamwork and scoring ability but, the losers came back strong during the second period and threatened to subdue the Tamers.

The lineups:
TAMERS—15 VAMPIRES—11

CARPENTER-SIKI CONTRACT SIGNED

Paris, March 1.—The managers of Georges Carpentier and Battling Siki, the much-discussed belligerents in the famous fight of some months ago for the world's light-heavyweight title, signed the contract yesterday for a return bout.

The date of the match, which will witness Carpentier's attempt to regain his title, was not made definite in the contract, but it is understood that it will take place in Paris between May 1 and Sept. 30.

Part of the proceeds will go to the benefit of scientific laboratories, this being one of the conditions upon which the boxing federation permitted the men to engage in a return bout.

ENTIRE HOUSEHOLD IS RESTORED BY TANLAC

Canton Lady Declares Famous Medicine Overcame General Breakdown and She Gained 25 Pounds—Also Proved Blessing to Husband and Children.

"The way Tanlac has helped my family is almost unbelievable. My husband says it made him feel like a new man, and I am in the best health of my life," declared Mrs. G. W. Durham, 1415 Third st. N. E. Canton, Ohio, recently.

"We also give it to our children when they are feeling unwell and it never fails to bring them right out. I had suffered a general breakdown and was almost a nervous wreck. Of nights, I could get only a little fitful sleep and I had a stomach trouble so bad I was losing weight and feeling weak and miserable almost to desperation.

"My husband had gone through about the same troubles and Tanlac restored his health, so he urged me to try it. Well, it is astonishing how the treatment has relieved these ailments. I am eating ravenously and sleeping just fine now, and I've actually gained twenty-six pounds. Tanlac is truly a medicine for all the family."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

KIDNEYS MUST HAVE PLENTY OF WATER

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist; and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to primary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Ohio State Grads Total 14,500 With 1139 In '23 Class

Columbus, March 1. — Contrasted with six in the class of 1878, Ohio State university will grant degrees to a record class of more than 1,300 seniors in June, according to present indications. The class will swell the number of degrees awarded by Ohio's largest state university to nearly 14,500 members of 40 classes.

Arts college leads in the number of graduates holding degrees with 2,317. The combined total of engineering degrees (civil, mechanical, chemical, electrical, ceramic, mining, metallurgical and architectural) is 2,385. Agriculture, the other college with more than a thousand graduates, has awarded 1,260 degrees. Since 1905 the college of education has turned out 869 graduates.

Among courses with origins since 1914 home economics has 435 graduates; medicine 262; dentistry 243.

Lawyers with degrees from Ohio State number 551. Despite the inroads of the automobile, the college of medicine, which has turned out 650 doctors, is still graduating classes averaging around 35 members.

360 Million Bibles Printed, Enough For Two In Each Family

Chicago, March 1.—Enough Bibles have been printed in all languages in the world since printing was invented, to provide each of the earth's 300,000,000 families with two copies, according to an estimate made by George C. Buxton, Chicago publisher, made before a meeting of the Subscription Book Publishers association.

Since the middle of the 15th century, when printing was invented, Buxton said, 666,000,000 Bibles have been printed. Approximately 8,000,000 copies of the Bible are printed in this country and Canada annually, he said.

It has been estimated that 15,300,000 families out of the 23,000,000 in the United States do not have Bibles.

"These figures do not reflect with exactness the religious situation," Buxton said. "The American people are inherently religious."

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

Pulmotor Is Used To Save Life Of New Born Infant

Cincinnati, March 1.—Use of a pulmotor early today saved the life of a new born infant at General hospital, after two hours of work.

The child, a boy, born at a late hour last night to Mrs. Bossie Hughes, registered heart action, but did not breathe, according to physicians attending the mother.

Exhausting all other means, a physician suggested use of a pulmotor, and the services of city firemen were utilized with the result that after intensive efforts to induce respiration the medical staff at the hospital finally succeeded.

The case is said to be unique in Ohio medical annals.

CHAMPION FREAK BILL DISCOVERED

EXTREME OF LEGISLATIVE EFFORT DUG UP IN PIGEON HOLE AT WASHINGTON.

BAKER OF BROOKLYN AUTHOR

His Measure Was Intended to Regulate Interstate Commerce by "Competition" and Contained Many "Whereases."

Washington.—From the viewpoint of the conservative-minded members of congress, and even from that of some of them who are only half-way conservative-minded, some of the bills which have been introduced recently partake of the nature of freaks. The truth, however, is that today measures which would have been considered as reason's outlaws years ago are now looked upon as sane legislative endeavors by many men of advanced thought.

When the people of the country are contemplating some of the extremes of legislative effort and they are thinking perhaps the world is cracking when such things are turned loose, let it look back to another year when real freak measures were introduced. Of course they were given pigeon-hole room only. There are some bills which it is possible to look upon today, if one chooses to conduct a search for them, which are something more than astounding in the scope of their intention.

Here is a measure which a searcher after antiquities produced the other day when a friend had declared that some of the present measures offered for consideration were beyond the dreams of the unreasonable.

In the year 1904 Representative Robert Baker of Brooklyn, whose mission on earth seemed to be to bring the lion and the lamb millennium to the people of God's earth, introduced into the lower house a measure bearing the short and simple title "To Regulate Interstate Commerce by Competition."

Many Whereases.

Some of the yearners after prosperity and peace may read with delight the whereases which preface the "Be it enacted" part of Baker's bill. Here they are:

"Whereas, The enactment of this bill means industrial freedom for the working world; and

"Whereas, The enactment of this bill means public industries and competition with the trusts; and

"Whereas, The enactment of this bill means public employment for everybody who wants it; and

"Whereas, The enactment of this bill means a public currency for public purposes; and

"Whereas, The enactment of this bill means 45 executive departments can be established and operated for great public benefit; and

"Whereas, The enactment of this bill means that every state in the Union will be represented in the cabinet of the President; and

"Whereas, The enactment of this bill means that the whole people have a right to do any business for labor cost, that any part of the people have a right to do for labor cost and profit; and

"Whereas, The enactment of this bill will mean the utmost possible protection for the consumers of American products;"

"If congress had looked with favor upon this bill of Baker's of Brooklyn there would have been established 45 executive departments of the government, and the first lesson that the 45 secretaries would have been compelled to learn would be that they should not give employment to any person, to quote the body of the measure, "Who shall not have enlisted in the Grand Army of Labor in this Republic."

Duties of Secretaries.

Another duty of each secretary, if the bill had become a law, would have been to see to it that his employees were paid, "Daily, weekly, monthly or quarterly as they may desire, not less than four dollars ($4.00) a day at four hours each, with a practical examination for each promotion for each higher grade of pay in the public's service, as well as a grant of leave of absence with full pay, for one day after working three days, for one week after working three weeks, for one month after working three months, for one year after working three years, during the continuance of that voluntary public employment."

Probably the most onerous duty imposed by the bill upon the secretaries was to see to it that the employees of their respective departments should observe the laws in regard to the sandwiched-in holidays. No man was to be allowed to labor if the law said he must loaf.

Of the 45 departments the chief department, according to Mr. Baker's plan, was to be that of Labor, though admittedly to a close student of the bill it would appear that in some way the word "Labor" was a misnomer.

Comes From Orphanage To High Office.

Aaron Shapiro, 39, began life in a San Francisco orphanage. He worked his way through school and college and became a lawyer. He served as a private in the World War. In the last few years, under his leadership, five great tobacco associations have been marketing two-thirds of the American tobacco crop, and he directs ten state co-operative associations in marketing cotton. He has organized a number of big milk and dairy products pools, and, at the instance of the Canadian government officials, some of his efforts are now being carried into Canada. He is general counsel of the National Council of the Farmers' Co-operative Marketing association and of the Tobacco Growers' Exchange.

Soil Need Not Be Kept On War Ration

Potash is back on the market as far as Ohio farmers are concerned, and soils men of the Ohio State university at local fertilizer schools in 50 counties have been urging the practicality of breaking into the "acid phosphate only" fertilizing policy which so many Ohio farmers have followed since the war cut America off from the German potash mines.

It is not urged that less stress be put on lime and phosphate, the standard need of Ohio soils, but merely that, with potash now less than a twelfth of its wartime price, it may pay the farmer who is fertilizing fairly heavily to add potash, and possibly an ammonia carrier, to the fertilizer.

The schools, when they end next month will have comprised around 250 all-day sessions in farm bureau offices and school house all over Ohio. Instruction has stressed time at the morning sessions, and the possibility of complete fertilizers in the afternoon.

Attendance varies. The instruction may be given in a round table discussion to as few as five farmers, or there may be as many as 70. Thirty is about the average attendance, and the extension workers do not encourage larger crowds, as the aim is to give those who attend direct aid on individual soil and fertilizer problems.

Youngstown.—Between 35 and 40 million eggs are consumed here annually allowing each person a quota of 350. Seventy-five per cent of the eggs are shipped into Youngstown from out of the state. Bakeries use between five and ten million frozen eggs annually.

MEAT CONSUMPTION SETS NEW RECORD

Each Person In U. S. Used 149 Pounds Last Year, Records Reveal.

Washington, March 1.—More meat was consumed in the United States last year than in any previous year, the department of agriculture announced today. The total consumption was estimated at 16,333,000,000 pounds, which amounts to 149.7 pounds per person, applying the July 1, 1922, estimate of population. The per capita consumption showed an increase of six pounds over 1921 and six and a half pounds over 1920.

"Coupled with the decrease in the exports and somewhat higher prices in purchasers in 1922," the department said, "these figures evidence a satisfactory state of the home market, due, doubtless, to the prosperous condition and better purchasing power of the people generally."

The average meat bill per person in 1922, according to the estimates, was made up of 61.4 pounds of beef, 7.3 pounds of veal, 5 pounds of mutton and lamb and 76 pounds of pork. All classes of meat except mutton and lamb showed increased consumption.

tion. The largest increase was in beef, 3.6 pounds per person, while the increased consumption of pork was only slightly less, 3.1 pounds per capita. Lamb and mutton decreased 1.2 pounds per capita.

The conversion of corn into lard by means of the hog is one of the major industries of the country, the product of which goes to all parts of the world, the department announced. The 67,050,745 hogs slaughtered in 1922 yielded more than 9,000,000,000 pounds of meat and 2,333,000,000 pounds of lard. This is the highest production of lard on record, and as the exports, although considerable, were less than in 1921, it follows that the total consumption also was highest. The per capita consumption, however, was exceeded in 1916.

The adverse conditions of foreign exchange and the poorer purchasing power of European countries have seriously affected the exports of meat products. Foreign trade in beef has practically ceased, the department said, and while there has always been a large exportable surplus of pork products and lard the trade in the former (mostly bacon and hams) has steadily diminished in the last four years.

Lard alone, chiefly through the re-entry of Germany as a lard purchaser since the war, has held a commanding position in foreign trade. Exports of lard were highest on record in 1921, totaling $93,000,000 pounds, and while they fell away more than 100,000,000 pounds last year, the total was second highest. Great Britain is the chief customer for American lard, and Germany is next.

Mother To-Be!

Do You Realize this Fact?

An eminent physician has shown why there is so much useless suffering on the part of many expectant mothers, for months before baby comes, as well as when baby actually arrives. This same great doctor found the way to avoid much of this suffering. Mother, your baby's nerves, its whole structure should be free from any influence caused by your months of useless misery and pain. You yourself can be free from much of it. Here is a little message to all expectant mothers:

Mrs. Ida Milton, 108 N. Tremont St., Kansas, Ill., says: "I am forced to say something in regard to your wonderful 'Mother's Friend.' Just one application gave me such relief I could hardly realize I was in pregnancy. Before I used it I was suffering with pains all over, and today, I am able to do my house-work with all ease and without pain."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally, and enables the muscles, nerves and tissues to relax and readjust themselves with the growing changes during pregnancy, and at child-birth. It should be used for some time before baby comes—the sooner the better.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere grease and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

SENATE IRRITANTS OF BOTH PARTIES

CERTAIN MEMBERS TRAINED TO SAY SHARP THINGS AND TO RETORT IN KIND.

TWO RECENTLY REBUKED

Glaring Example of Dense and Inexcusable Ignorance Sometimes Shown by Members of Upper House Concerning Duties of Government Officers.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—In the senate of the United States there always has been a red pepper box or two on one side of the chamber to offset the bottle or two of tobacco sauce on the other side of the chamber. In what is plain language, each party represented in the senate always has a member or two whose duty, as well as inclination, is to irritate the members of the other party. Of course no instructions are issued to engage in irritation, but each party seems to feel that it is a good thing to have irritants and counter-irritants.

This year in the senate the Democrats have had the majority of irritants, naturally so perhaps because the Democrats have been the minority party.
The Republicans until recently paid little attention to things that were said and which were intended probably to lead them into the field of hot argument which would consume time.

Now, however, the Republicans are availing themselves of the services of two or three senators whose duty it will be to retort in kind every time anything irritating is said on the other side of the chamber. There are three or four Democrats who say things constantly that the Republicans consider exasperating. It matters little that the Republicans when they were in the minority had three or four party members who were constantly irritating the Democrats.

In the old days, the very old days, irritating things seldom were said in the United States senate, but the times have changed, and seemingly manners have changed with them. The senate is not as dignified a body as once it was by a long shot.

Personal Offense Not Wanted.

It was only recently that two senators were rebuked by a vote of the senate because they had said things which seemingly had reflected on the good faith of other senators. One of the rebuked ones was a Democrat and the other was a Republican. What the leaders of both parties in the senate would like is to have certain followers who could say sharp things without saying personal things. The trouble with the leaders here is to keep their free-speaking followers from saying things which personally are offensive. A senator can say anything he wants to that is offensive to a political party as a political party, but it is another thing when he suggests that some fellow senator is in politics for what he can make out of it or to represent some sinister interest.

Persons who have looked on the proceedings in congress year after year sometimes get a little bit more than irritated because of the ignorance shown by some of the lawmakers about things concerning which it is their business to know about, things which most thinking people know about and would be ashamed if they did not know about. Occasionally a senator or representative will get on his feet to say something which he trays a complete misunderstanding of the functions of government, and sometimes a black ignorance concerning the duties of officers of the government.

Showing Grass Ignorance.

A case in point has presented itself within a few hours of this writing.
The army appropriation bill was under discussion in the senate. It contained a provision for a small appropriation for motorcars for use of Uncle Sam's military attaches on duty in one of the big capitals of Europe. A senator rose to inquire what earthly use a motorcar could be to a military attache unless, the intimation was, he intended to employ it for the purpose of going from one pink tea to another, burning up the taxpayers' money with gasoline and wearing out the taxpayers' automobile tires with the friction of the big city's pavements.

There were smiles all over the chamber when the senator made his inquiry.
He had to be told that the duty of a military attache is to attend military maneuvers for the purpose of learning lessons which might be of advantage to his country in case of trouble;
he had to be told that the military maneuvers of armies cover miles up on miles of ground, and that if a man is to learn anything he has to get here and there in short order. He also had to be told that if a military attache did not have a motor he might just as well be kept in his own country and let the business of information gathering go hang.

There seems to be a complete misunderstanding in the country as to the duty of our representatives abroad who hold what generally are thought to be minor positions. As a matter of fact the men holding these minor places are the men who are collecting for Uncle Sam the most valuable information he can get. Our consular agents have no motors and are poorly paid, and yet they are expected to go here, there and elsewhere to gather material which will benefit the commercial interests of the United States.

DO YOU GET UP NIGHTS ON ACCOUNT OF BLADDER

This Symptom Tells You Something Is Wrong. A Dayton Man's Experience

Mr. John Lumpkin, 7 Carrie St., Dayton, Ohio, says in his own home paper, the Dayton Herald: "For two years I had to get up fifteen to twenty times each night. The scalding and pain was awful. After taking a few doses of Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) the gravel came, and at least twenty-five pieces have passed since. Some were as large as a bean.
I am glad to have this way of telling my fellow sufferers about this great new remedy."

Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) acts on the kidneys and bladder like Epsom Salts on the bowels. It cleans them out and helps to relieve the bladder of abnormal deposits. The tablets cost 2c each. This price makes it possible to place in the formula several expensive drugs, which are useful for relief. The formula is on the package. It is likely you have never taken anything similar. Try a few doses for backache, scalding, scanty or high-colored urine and frequent desire at night.

Be sure to get the Keller formula
Lithiated Buchu at The Lease Drug Co., Bennett Drug Co. and drug stores everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

U. S. MAY BUILD ANOTHER CANAL

Nicaragua Route Urged by the Late Senator Morgan Will Be Utilized.

PANAMA ROUTE BIG SUCCESS

Volume of Shipping Already So Great That the Need of a Second Waterway Across Isthmus Is Seen as a Pressing Need.

Washington.—In the course of time there will be another inter-oceanic canal. The Nicaragua route urged by the late Senator Morgan of Alabama as the proper course for the first great waterway will be utilized by the United States some day in the future for a companion passage to the canal which now makes open the way from the Atlantic to the Pacific through the Republic of Panama.

It may be asked: "Why a second canal?" The answer simply is that the present canal has proved a great success, and already the volume of traffic is so great that the need of another waterway to provide communication between the oceans is seen as a pressing need of the comparatively near future.

Secretary of State Hughes has just made official announcement of the completion of an arrangement with Costa Rica by which that country accedes to the request of the United States for the lease of certain rights which Costa Rica today holds over the territory at the mouth of the San Juan river. This removes the last obstacle in the way of the construction under the United States auspices.

The country of Nicaragua long ago entered into an agreement with the United States by which this country is empowered to construct an inter-oceanic waterway. The sole obstacle in the way was the Costa Rica claim of water right to control of one of the essential points. Of course no one knows definitely when the need for the canal will become so pressing that the United States must begin operations, but it is certain that the work will begin some years in advance of the time which the experts will set as when the Panama Canal will have reached the point of traffic overcrowding.

Morgan Had Supporters.

When United States Senator John T. Morgan was urging through several sessions of congress the advantages of the Nicaragua route he had many supporters among the engineers and shipping men of the world in his contention that Nicaragua furnished better geographical facilities for such a canal than the country of Panama. It is probably fair to say that many engineers think that the Nicaragua, although longer than the Panama canal route, will offer fewer engineering difficulties than were encountered in making the more southern waterway. In the interior of Nicaragua there is a lake deep enough to be navigable and wide enough to remove some engineering difficulties, the one problem being cutting and digging. In other words, the route will be partly by canal and partly by lake.

There is a lake at Panama, and for some miles of their course, the vessels which pass from the Atlantic to the Pacific plow the waters of the body of water known as Gatun lake. There is a difference, however, between Gatun lake and the Nicaragua lake. The former was created by the engineers and the latter was created by nature.

Sibert Created Lake Gatun.

The engineer who created the Gatun lake, which was accomplished only after the Chagres river, a tiger of water courses, had been chained, a feat which some engineers declared to be impossible, was Major General William L. Sibert of the United States army, now retired and engaged in farming near Bowling Green, Kentucky. It was General Sibert who not only created Gatun lake but built the three greatest locks that the world knows and built the great dam at Gatun.

The Panama canal is making good money returns to the government of the United States. It has proved to be a sound investment. The history of its building is one of the tragic stories of the world. The French under the great engineer DeLesseps, who constructed the Suez canal undertook to dig the Panama waterway. At that time yellow fever was rampant. Knowledge of the fact that the fever was transmitted by a mosquito, the stephomyia fasciata, was unknown. There are graveyards on the hillsides of Panama which contain bodies of hundreds of Frenchmen who died of yellow fever while trying to achieve a triumph greater than that which came from the construction of the Suez waterway. The French finally were compelled to give over the work for lack of financial support.

There is living today a great engineer who with DeLesseps undertook the construction of the Panama canal. He has told the writer of this personally, and that every Frenchman on the isthmus was determined to put the work through in the face of death, that no matter what the ravages of the fever should prove the canal would have been built if the money had been forthcoming.

The yellow fever menace will not confront the American workmen at Nicaragua in the day when the digging project is undertaken.

THEATRES

"Monte Cristo"
Those who have witnessed the special William Fox production of "Monte Cristo," based on Dumas' undying novel, have declared it without hesitation to be a splendid photodrama containing a cast of surprising excellence.

It seems that all of the Dumasque characters have stepped from the pages of this well remembered romance so that the very atmosphere of the book has been caught magically by the camera. "Monte Cristo" comes to the State theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Fairbanks in Robin Hood
Countless inquiries are being made as to what elements enter into the motion picture sensation, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," which Douglas Fairbanks is bringing to the screen.

According to Mr. Fairbanks himself, this latest of his truly epochal photoplays, which is coming to the State theater next week under a United Artists release, is a combination of fact and fancy, a vital drama depicting the chivalrous and romantic spirit of the 12th century, comprising an enchanting mixure of the fairy tale and a gorgeous display of the valorous deeds of 800 years ago, so that the people of today easily can grasp. It is, in short, the presentation of an impression inspired by historical facts and with a beautiful historical background.

It was no small task to conceive or perfect the integral parts which make up this masterly cinema achievement. Primarily, it required five months to gather all available data on the Norman period before the first step could be taken toward actual work of producing the picture.

This exhaustive research work was undertaken by a corps of recognized authorities on the various subjects involved and was headed by Dr. Arthur Woods. Their quest for knowledge took them abroad where they delved into all the records they could find and where they visited all the museums containing relics of that age. Most of their time was spent in England.

Seats for this picture now on sale at Reich & Ruggie's.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

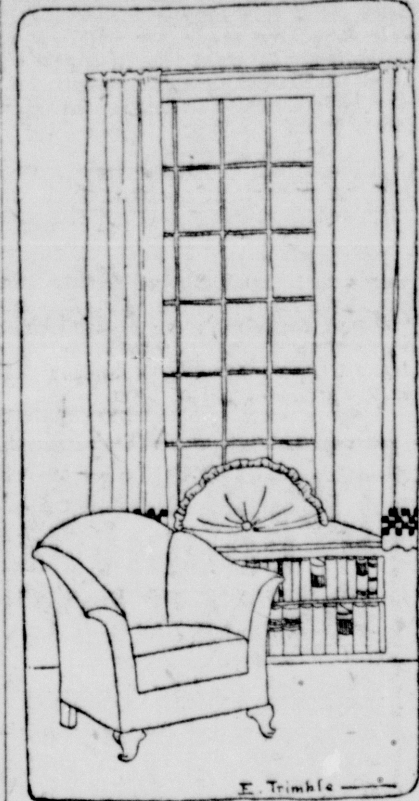

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allen's, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allen's with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment. All druggists can supply you.

BOOKS UNDER THE RECESSED WINDOW

A most convenient place for a few favorite books is this little nook under a recessed window. The easy chair and the good light for reading make a very inviting corner. The chair is covered with haircloth, a very durable new material, in any solid color, such as blue or taupe. The draperies are of a neutral grayish shade with checks embroidered in bright colors. A brilliantly colored half-round cushion is used in the window seat.

Not much has been heard here about that recent eclipse of the sun, which leads to the theory that perhaps it was noiseless.

FRIENDS NOTICED IMPROVEMENT

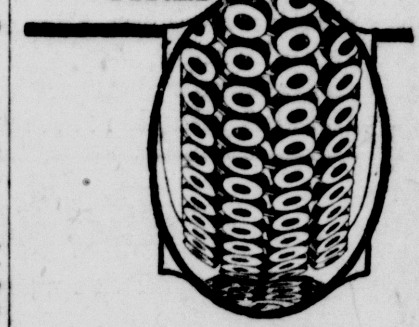

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Beloit, Wis.—"My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it did not help me as much as it should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 93 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. G. Monson, 1515 Park Ave., Beloit, Wis.

Farm Buying Power Is Creeping Ahead

Discrepancies between the buying power of the man on the land and of the man on the street, while wide, are not so marked now as they have been in the past.

Figures just released by the Bureau of Labor at Washington, which show the farm products "index" of 156 for general products, are quoted at the outset of a statement on such price margins just issued by R. F. Taber, extension economist at the Ohio State university.

An index figure, it is explained, compares prices to those of 1913, which are designated by 100. Interpreted, the January figures mean that farm products sold at 43 per cent above pre-war levels, while general prices stood 56 per cent above this level. There is, therefore, at the latest available report, a margin of 13 per cent between prices paid farmers for their products, and prices which farmers and consumers in general pay for the things they buy.

During the years 1890 to 1899, which were bad ones for farmers, the margin was 10 per cent. Farm products then stood at 63 and all commodities at 73. From 1910 to 1914, the levels were practically even. In 1921, when products prices crashed, the difference was the widest in history: farm prices then stood at 117 and general products at 152 making a margin of 35 points. Since then, there has been a slow but steady trend toward equalization of farm and city buying power.

Much Important Work Done By 67th Congress Gives It Notable Place In Politics

Washington, March 1.—The 67th congress, coming to an end Saturday, will go down in history as "The Reconstruction Congress."

The Democrats may dispute the title, asserting that little real reconstruction has been accomplished, but the 67th remains, nevertheless, as the first congress elected since the war, and it concerned itself for the most part with matters that were incidental to the war.

Praised by the Republicans and heartily damned by the Democrats, the expiring congress has seen more legislative fighting and more forensic furor than any congress in recent history. It swept into the capitol on the crest of the great Harding landslide, with Republican majorities in both house and senate greater than ever before. The Republican majorities were, in fact, too great for efficient party management, leading to the establishment of numerous "bloes" and factions, of which the "Farmers' bloc" composed of Democrats and Republicans alike is the most outstanding example.

Accomplished Much Vital Work

Regardless of partisan bickering, the 67th congress bids fair to go down in history as one of the notable ones, if for no other reason than the importance of the work completed. It established peace with Germany after the World war; it initiated and approved the epochal limitation of the world's navies in the Washington armament conference and it approved the Four Power Pact, binding the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan to maintain the peace of the Pacific for an indefinite number of years.

Congress also provided a plan for settlement of the $11,000,000,000 war debts owed the United States by European governments. It created an American Debt Funding commission composed of three cabinet officers and one member each from the senate and house to negotiate with the debtor nations terms of settlement.

When congress expired only one such settlement had been reached—that with Great Britain, under which the British undertake to discharge their $5,000,000,000 within 62 years at a rate of interest not to exceed 3½ per cent.

These were the principal achievements of the expiring congress in foreign affairs.

In domestic affairs it has accomplished a tremendous volume of work, covering a wide range of subjects—from taxes to beer.

Revised and Repealed Taxes

One of the first jobs tackled by the new congress when it came in on March 4, 1921, was the revision of tax laws. It repealed the excess profits taxes, over the strenuous protests of the Democrats, and it repealed the onerous luxury taxes which had been prolific of considerable complaint since the end of the war. It modified in various ways the income tax law.

A budget system of running governmental expenditures was adopted, doing away with the old loose system of lump sum appropriations for projects of all kinds.

No congress in history ever enacted or attempted to enact such a volume of relief legislation for agricultural interests as did the 67th.

Hard hit by the deflation of 1920-21 and the disastrous fall of prices for farm products, the farmers descended upon Washington en bloc and en masse, demanding relief. The country banks were filled with paper and were loaned up to the hilt. At one time farm representatives appearing before committees in congress estimated that 700,000 farm mortgages were in imminent danger of foreclosure as a result of low prices, tight credit and all-around depression.

Gave Birth To "Farm Bloc"

This situation gave birth to the "farm bloc" and, if for no other reason, the 67th congress will go down in history as having been the father of this ambitious child.

Democrats and Republicans from agricultural states joined forces and shoved through congress a series of bills aimed at easing the situation, particularly as it affected credits. The War Finance corporation was given a new lease on life and more money and latitude to finance agricultural project; the powers of the Farm Loan board were enlarged, and Herschel Centenary.

The centenary of the death of Sir William Herschel was recently celebrated at Slough where he carried on many of his researches, assisted by his sister, Caroline. everything promptly teaching agricultural interests was assured of leeway if it only had the support of the farm bloc.

A great deal of this agricultural legislation was shoved ahead over the indignant protests of party leaders, but the bloc was numerically powerful enough and determined enough to jam program through irreverence of party discipline and control.

President Harding exercised his veto power on two important measures—the soldiers' bonus bill, which had passed the house by 5 to 1 and the senate by a substantial majority, and the Bursum bill, which would have increased Civil War pension. The house re-passed the bonus bill over his veto but the necessary two-thirds were lacking in the senate by a narrow margin of a few votes.

Tariff Act Is Far-reaching

The Tariff act of 1922 is another far-reaching piece of legislation for which the 67th congress always will be remembered. After the low-rate Underwood act, which had been in effect for eight years under Democratic administration, the Republicans wrote and jammed to enactment an entirely new system of tariff rates, in many respects the highest in history, and reposed in the president discretionary power to lower or raise these rates.

The Tariff act more nearly menaced the solidarity of the formidable farm bloc than any other single piece of legislation. It was portrayed by the Republicans as "protecting" the products of the American farm, and denounced by Democrats as "increasing the price" of everything the farmer has to buy. The split was mainly along party lines, there being in-

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Youngstown—Former Mayor George Oles, who is spending the winter at feeling better every day and will re-Miami, sends word north that he is turn to Youngstown to support charter government movement coming up here soon.

Alliance—C. C. Shaffer has received his commission as postmaster of this city and assumed his office March 1.

HADN'T THE PEP TO GET UP AND DRESS, HE SAID

But the Old Reliable Builder, Nerv-Worth, Soon Restored His Vigor.

It is useless to give up hope and surrender to depressed feelings when Nerv-Worth will build you up so quickly. Proof that it will do this is found in hundreds of statements from satisfied users, one of which, written by J. E. Wilson, West Poplar St., Sydney, Ohio, says: "I had nervous indigestion, and couldn't sleep at night. Sold and recommended by Bennett's and Treats'."
